Safety measures:

Particular attention at designing was directed to quality standards of the device where ensuring safety of operation is the most important factor.

The device must be secured against contact with caustic, staining and viscous fluids.

The directional panel antenna is designed to mount outdoors or indoors, dedicated to receive and transmit the LTE/GSM/3G signals, and also to use with GSM amplifiers.

The antenna effectively solves the problems of inadequate signal level which often occurs in the case of modems/devices with built-in antennas.
